BEFORE YOU RECEIVE YOU MUST GIVE

My story starts by telling you how much I appreciate my mother and how she taught me a lesson in compassion and giving even though she has limited resources.
My family is from Ecuador, we have always loved to give back and give thanks to the country we came from. I am thankful to my religion and culture, which is all about helping the needy and realizing how amazing life is. I have been practicing Hinduism for almost a year now. I am so happy that I have embraced a faith that has been around for thousands of years.
My mother, sister and I travel twice a year to Ecuador to help sick children, spend time with them, and to really understand what they've been through and most of all to see smiles on their faces. This summer we volunteered to help two charities. The first one was a school of 6-10 year old who came to our farm in a city called Chambo. There we had a very good time and enjoyed being around these kids. We danced and gave them gifts.
The second charity is an orphanage of over one hundred children, some of which have run away from their homes; others were just left out on the streets. This orphanage adopted them and gave them a roof over their head, food, and love.
Missionaries volunteer from all over the world come to teach them for six months to a year! We went there because they are like family to us. With their suffering and pain and the conditions they were under, they taught us about life and how fragile it could be.
I have been asking my mother to send me to South Africa as an exchange student for a year to help raise awareness for AIDS and to learn about other cultures and the suffering of other people around the world that we never hear about. Every day I thank my mother for teaching me the real value of life and that you have to give before you receive.
Even though my mother has struggled throughout life, she is still giving to those in need and putting them ahead of herself instead of worrying about herself. Helping others comes first to her. This is a valuable lesson for any teenager to learn, a lesson I will never forget, a lesson about listening and caring for others. This is how my mother raised me and this is who I am.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

BLUE Missions strives to end the global water and sanitation crisis by taking volunteers on service trips abroad to construct rural water systems and adequate sanitation solutions to those most in need.

BLUE stayed busy this summer hosting 5 service trips to the Dominican Republic for high school and college students throughout the United States. Three of the missions were open-registration while two were custom trips developed for the students at Our Lady of Lourdes Academy (24 volunteer) and Christopher Columbus High School (28 volunteers). Together, the two projects provided clean water for over 100 families in the remote towns of Caraqueño and Los Pinos. All trip participants from this summer earned 200 service hours for their efforts.

Throughout the course of a mission, volunteers carry pipe, dig trenches, and mix cement which all prove to be worthwhile when the water finally arrives to the community. There is no greater feeling than watching a community receive clean water for the first time in their lives. The women and children no longer have to walk miles to go fetch water. Children will now attend school regularly and women can start their own businesses and focus on more important things like raising their family. Water changes everything for those living in these communities. Aside from the hard work, our volunteers also hosted "Kid's Day" and "Women's Day." These activities give the locals a chance to disconnect from their day-to-day lives and treat themselves to afternoons of laughter and education. In 2014, BLUE Missions has constructed 6 aqueduct systems in villages throughout the Dominican Republic benefitting a total of over 500 families.

We invite anyone that is interested in our cause to visit our website (www.bluemission.org) to learn more about the work we do.

Make sure to follow us on social media to stay informed about upcoming trips, local events, and volunteer opportunities. Our 2015 trip dates will be announced in the Fall.

"Go Forth and Set the World on Fire"

The quote by St. Ignatius of Loyola, "Go forth and set the world on fire" can best describe the group of individuals who decided to use their summer vacation to accomplish an incredible feat.

Ninety-eight students from Belen Jesuit joined alumni, students from Our Lady of Lourdes Academy and Carrollton School of the Sacred Heart, Jesuit Fathers Frank Permuy'8 and Emilio Travieso along with engineers and medical staff on the annual Belen Youth Mission trip. This year the group headed to Hoyo de Perez, Dominican Republic where they built a bridge and established a makeshift clinic June 27- July 6. The purpose of the 10-day mission was to serve the poor and deliver medicine, mostly vitamins and building tools used in the construction of the bridge.

DISTRICT 6 BOARD MEMBER

El Distrito 6 de la escuelas públicas de Miami-Dade, dirigido por la Dra. Raquel Regalado, continua trabajando durante estas vacaciones de verano para asegurar que todos sus estudiantes regresen a clases a un ambiente escolar seguro y donde puedan alcanzar su mayor potencial académico.

Los estudiantes con discapacidades de la escuela elemental Blue Lakes Elementary empezarán el nuevo curso escolar con un patio de recreo renovado para cumplir sus necesidades médicas. En el area de juego se instalará una carpa y piso nuevo que ayudarán a los niños especiales a funcionar mejor de acuerdo a sus déficits de integración sensorial.

En la escuela secundaria Coral Gables Senior High se está restaurando completamente la pista y campo de atletismo para continuar proporcionando a todos sus estudiantes la oportunidad de destacar sus abilidades atléticas. Coral Gables Senior High cuenta con cuatro ex atletas olímpicos, tres campeones del Super Bowl, y un número de jugadores profesionales actuales de béisbol, fútbol, golf y tenis.

El proyecto para la escuela elemental Citrus Grove Elementary incluye pintar las paredes que con el tiempo se han deteriorado y asi proveer a los estudiantes un sitio escolar donde la educación se pueda centrar en los valores y los logros académicos. Se ha comprobado que las condiciones físicas de las instalaciones escolares influyen directamente en la actitud de los estudiantes o las actitudes de los maestros y padres – las cuales a su vez influyen en las actitudes de los estudiantes. Mientras mejor sea la condición física del sitio escolar, mas positiva será la actitud del estudiante y los estudiantes con mejores actitudes tienden a esforzarse mas y sobresalir académicamente.

Felicidades a la Academía de Finanzas de la escuela secundaria Southwest Miami Senior High al ser reconocida por cuarta vez por el National Academy Foundation como la academia de carrera mas distinguida de los Estados Unidos. La premiación es basada en el rendimiento que la academia ha demostrado en preparar a los estudiantes para carreras universitarias y postsecundarias.

Teach your children about the dangers of cyber crimes

By: Officer Delio Jimenez Orlando Gutierrez
Miami-Dade Schools Police Department

With every new generation comes a new generation of crimes; ones that have to be fended off by wiser parents and, truth be told, wiser students. We are all aware it is not easy being a kid in today's society due to modern technology and the incredible amount of information readily available on television, social media and the Internet. A kid with a smart device at his or her fingertips in 2014 is the equivalent of giving a 13 year-old kid a cherry-red Lamborghini in 1994. It has the potential to be extremely dangerous and even deadly in the wrong hands.

However, many parents give these smart phones and other smart devices to their teens as a means of communication and entertainment without teaching them safety precautions. Eventually, students arm themselves with these devices at home and at school without knowing how much damage they can cause and how easily they can be victimized. This is oftentimes where the trouble begins. The answer to preventing children from committing or falling victim to cyber crimes is not to forbid them from using the technology unless exigent circumstances are present. The answer is to educate and make them highly aware about the dangers and consequences of cybercrimes.

What is a Cyber Crime?

The very definition of a cybercrime is; an offense committed against an individual and/or groups of individuals with a criminal motive to intentionally harm the reputation of the victim or to cause physical or mental harm to the victim directly or indirectly, using modern technology such as the Internet (chat rooms, emails) as well as smart devices.

During our time here at the Miami-Dade Schools Police Department, which spans nearly 14 years, both Officer Gutierrez and I have encountered many different cases involving cyber crimes. While most cases have ended favorably some have not and many could have been avoided through more awareness.

Over the last decade, many states in the U.S. have had the amount of cyber crimes rise to an extreme, leading to the victimization or deaths of many teenagers and young adults. There are dozens of juvenile deaths linked to cyber crimes every year in the United States. Our police department has placed the utmost emphasis on thoroughly training our personnel to allow each officer to have a complete understanding of how these crimes transpire, how to eliminate the threat to the victim, and how to nab the perpetrator as quickly as possible. This is in conjunction with utilizing the C.I.T. (Crisis Intervention Training) certification the officers have acquired which plays a large part in responding to these calls with empathy and understanding as well as the awareness of how healing and rebuilding of the victim's life needs to take place. This is also something that can be far more effective when every involved person in the school's district buys into how extreme and serious these crimes are and more importantly, how quickly we must render aid to, and counsel each victim.

The most common cybercrimes affecting children are 1) Cyberbullying - children occasionally young adults leaving them feeling angry, sad, embarrassed, or frustrated. 2) Cyberstalking - when these types of electronic communication threats are willful, malicious and repeated and cause a victim substantial emotional distress while serving no legitimate purpose, it becomes a case of cyberstalking (first-degree misdemeanor in FL). Add to that a credible threat and it becomes a third-degree felony. Children also commonly use text messages to make an isolated threat which may not meet the criteria for being a crime; these cases can oftentimes be handled by school administration with the help of police intervention and counseling. 3) Online predators - these offenders actively seek minors through the Internet and trick them into thinking they are the same approximate age. They also make arrangements to meet these minors in person to carry out their sick schemes.

How can we prevent Cyber Crimes against children?

1. Talk to your children about the dangers and consequences of cyber crimes in detail.
2. Use the parental controls provided by your Internet provider to monitor their activity and address concerns quickly if they arise. Don't keep it a secret; tell them you are monitoring their activity for their safety.
3. Randomly check your child's emails and posts on social media sites.
4. Instruct your children to never give out personal information on the Internet such as their real name, address, the school they attend, or phone number.
5. Instruct them to never arrange a face-to-face meeting with a stranger they have met over the Internet.
6. Tell them to never upload their photos to people they don't know over the Internet. Remind them that anything they upload is permanently out of their control and available to anyone on the Internet.
7. Instruct them to report to you any unusual, illegal, or hurtful activity on the Internet whether or not it directly affects them.
8. Teach them examples of cyberbullying, cyberstalking, and online predatory behavior and make sure they understand how to prevent and report these cyber crimes.

Columbus' Midnight Madness brings dawn of new energy

by Ryan Murphy from Bleechr

Monday marks the first day that high school football teams were allowed to practice with helmets on; and the Columbus Explorers wasted no time getting started. Head Coach Chris Merritt and his team were on the field Sunday night and the moment the clock struck twelve, the helmets were on and Midnight Madness began.

The Explorers are coming off of a disappointing 7-5 season in 2013, but are looking to bounce back in 2014. They have multiple state powerhouses on their schedule, but with a team featuring 42 seniors, Merritt believes his team will have great leadership and compete during the '14-'15 season.

Coach Merritt simply said, "In our minds, we've only got one way to go after last year, and that's up… A lot of teams would love to go 7-5, we're just not one of them. We have higher expectations."

A $9 million athletic facility was completed in the offseason, bringing new energy to the program. It features state-of-the-art offices, meeting rooms, locker rooms, equipment rooms, and a weight room comparable to those of major conference Division-1 universities."It's brought an excitement. New uniforms, new facility; it's just brought a little excitement back, and we needed it after last year," Merritt said.

The Explorers will be lead by fourth year starting quarterback Tucker Beirne. A lot is expected from Beirne entering his senior season, and he looked good at midnight practice. He was clearly the vocal leader on the field, and demanded a lot from his teammates on the rainy night, getting on them for dropping balls and making mental mistakes.

Beirne will have plenty of firepower alongside him on offense, starting with senior running backs Ivan Smith and Andres Fernandez. While neither has the size nor speed of past Columbus backs like Jakhari Gore or Brandon Radcliff, the pair should prove to be solid enough to carry the ball effectively throughout the season.

The main pass catchers will be seniors Austin Maloney (FIU commit), Xavier Williams and Palmetto transfer Jerron Rollins, who connected with Beirne on several occasions during their spring scrimmage. Up front, the offensive line will be young but big, featuring two seniors and three juniors.

On the defensive side of the ball, the Explorers are loaded with talent. Their entire secondary is returning from last season, led by seniors JR Garrigo and Zack VanDemark. The most intriguing prospect in the secondary, though, and arguably on the entire team, is class of 2017 cornerback Trajan Bandy.

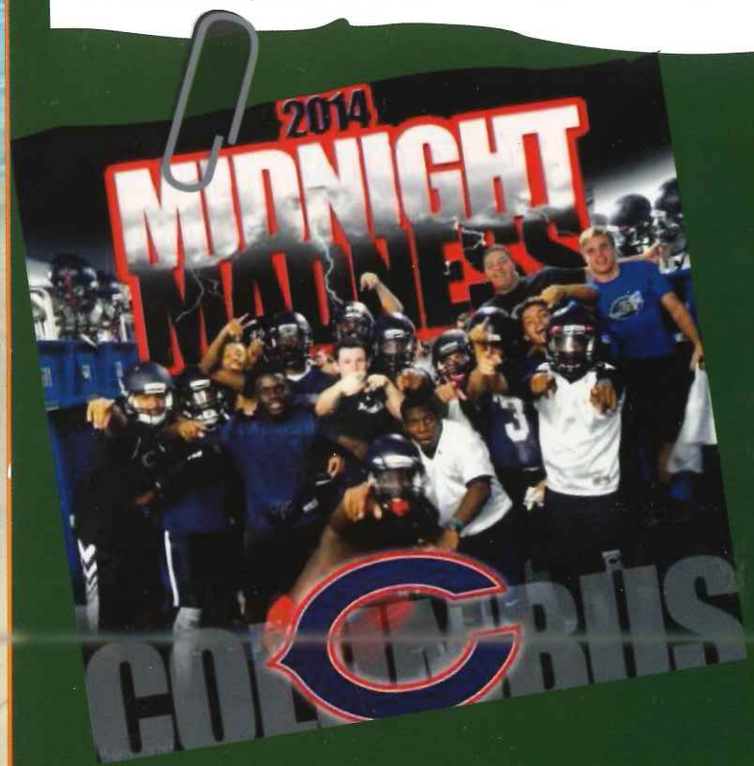

"Trajan plays a pure corner. He'll be a three-year starter for us. He was offered this summer by Tennessee and Cincinnati. He'll be our lock down corner," said Merritt, who had nothing but praise for the young defensive back.

On the defensive line, senior Alejandro Levy will lead the way. He has an outstanding academic record and Merritt called him "an Ivy League lock down." The line backing core features a lot of young talent, headlined by junior outside backers Bryce Handy and Dean Maestu, and seniors Fernando Escobar and Mike Sierra playing the inside spots.

The depth of this Explorer team was emphasized when Merritt said, "I feel like I got to name everybody, but at the end of the day that's what we got, we got a lot of guys who are good football players that are going to be good contributors for us."

State powerhouses South Dade, Miami Central, Miami Norland, and Highlands (KY) await the Explorers this coming year, as well as their annual rivalry game against Belen Jesuit. Their most important opponent, however, is Coral Gables, who beat them last year to win District 8A-14. Merritt alluded to the game saying, "We come back (from playing Belen) and we've got the District Championship first game; that's Coral Gables, and there's no bones about it. Last year we weren't ready for it, we didn't give that game its due diligence, but this year we'll be ready."

The Explorers will be competitive this season and their depth and experience will serve them well. Their schedule is no walk through the park, though, and their success will hinge greatly on the play of quarterback Tucker Beirne. If he's able to play at his maximum potential, the Explorers should easily make the playoffs and be poised for a potential run at States.

Gracias a estos protocolos, mi hijo de hoy 7 años despues de 5 años sin saber realmente como era su voz y solo oir gritos, volvio a decirme mamá, esa palabra maravillosa que muchos tienen la bendición de oir día a día y no entienden el porque algunos celebramos cada avance por pequeño que sea de nuestros hijos. Yo tarde 5 años en recuperar su voz y día a día mi hijo sigue progresando y espero verlo pronto recuperado del autismo.

Por eso sigo en la lucha por que Gianmarco se recupere 100% y por que cada uno de los suyos también lo hagan. Hay casos mas dificiles y otros no tanto pero siempre hay esperanza.

SLAM has become a signature event for the STMC, for St Tim's Parish School and the South Florida angler community. Julio Caceres, the organizer of SLAM, told VIP 305 that this year the tournament was a total success with twenty-seven boats registered and the growing support of sponsors. The event has garnished the attention from local media and provides one of the largest dock parties in the Upper Keys. SLAM has become so recognized, that the well-known spanish speaking fishing program "Pescando en los Cayos" televised the event.

At the end of a sunny fishing day full of fun, friends and family, the wine r of the 6th annual St. Timothy mens club SLAM was announced. The team of the Salazar and Vasseur families took home the first-place trophy with an amazing 35 pound dolphin!

Hope to see you in the summer of 2015!
